

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, June 18. 1707.

From the Paris Gazette, dated June 18.

Madrid, May 30.

THE 19th Instant the Marshal Duke of Berwick took a Review of the Troops, which after so great an Action and so long a March appear'd in very good Condition. M. de Labadie came to the Camp with 10 Battalions from Castellon de la Plana, whose Walls he had caus'd to be ras'd: Those of San Mateo are ras'd likewise, and only two Works are left standing, one to cover a Convent of Nuns, the other for the Hospital of the Army. Don Joseph Carrillo was detach'd with 200 Horse and 50 Dragoons towards Valdecona, to view the Bridge of Tortosa. Several Parties are sent towards the Sea-Coast, to stop those that take their Flight that Way to Catalonia, or would convey Corn thither. The 21st the Army march'd to Triguera. The 22d the Foot advanc'd to the River Servol, which runs by Valdecona, a Place situate at a little Distance from the Ebro and from Tortosa which is on the other side of that River. The 23d the Army came before the City, and immediately a View was taken of the Head of the Bridge, which the Enemy had fortified and furnish'd with Troops and several Pieces of Cannon. This did not hinder its being attack'd, and our Men having in a little Time made themselves Masters of some Houses of the Suburbs, notwithstanding the vigorous Resistance they met, the Enemy set the rest on Fire, and the next Day broke down the Bridge. Thus they have depriv'd themselves of all Communication with the Kingdoms of Valencia and Arragon; and all the Towns and Villages on this side the Ebro have submitted to the King's Obedience. The Chevalier d'Hasfelt carried on the Siege of Xativa from the 20th to the 25th, when the Breach was large enough for making an Assault upon the Town. He first summon'd the Garrison and Inhabitants to surrender, threatening otherwise to give them no Quarter. But the greatest Part of them being the most harden'd of the Rebels, persisted in their Resolution to defend themselves, and the Grenadiers who entred first kill'd all they found in Arms. The rest, few in Number, retir'd into the Castle, by means of some Intrenchments which they had made between 4 Monasteries; and Preparations were made for attacking them. The Town of Calatayud and all its Dependences have submitted, and paid 13000 Pistoles to commute for plundering. The Duke of Orleans arriv'd the 25th before Saragossa, and the Deputies of the City came out and made their Submission, as well in the Name of the whole Kingdom of Arragon, as for themselves. The 26th his Royal Highness entred the City, and took up his Lodging in the Archiepiscopal Palace. By his Order two Corps de Garde were plac'd, one at the Gate on the River, the other at that on the Road to Navarre, and others in divers Parts of the City, to prevent all Disorder. He caus'd a general Order to be publish'd, for all the Inhabitants to bring their Arms to the Palace of the Inquisition. A Citadel is building at Valencia, where were found great Stores of Corn, Ammunition, and Arms, in the Magazines the Enemy had made. A Gentleman of Barcelona, who came lately from thence, being expell'd that City for adhering to the King's Interest, reports that the Confirmation is general in that Country since the Victory of Almanza and the Reduction of Valencia: That the Enemy having lost almost all their Foot, have put their Horse into the Towns; and that there had been several Mutinies Barcelona. Letters from Andalusia tell us, that the Duke d'Osuna having besieg'd Serpa, had made a Breach in it, and had also block'd up Moura. Most of the Places on the Frontiers of Portugal that were oblig'd last Year to submit to Force, have return'd to Obedience. The Marquis de Bay was encamp'd at Santa Maria de la Vega, to observe the Motions of the Portuguese, who were encamp'd at Nisa, to the Number of 6000 Men, most of them Militia. They have carried away by Force from Ciudad-Rodrigo, several of the principal Inhabitants, as well of the Clergy as Laity. The King has made the Marquis d'Ariza Amirante of Arragon, and Don Lorenzo Armengual Bishop of Girona a Member of the Council of Castile.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated June 21.

Paris, June 17. The Advices from Madrid of the 2d Instant, say the Duke of Berwick had sent a Detachment of 12 Battalions and 15 Squadrons to the Duke of Orleans, to enable him to make himself Master of the Kingdom of Arragon the sooner, and was encamp'd with the rest of his Army at Penaroya 2 Miles from the Bridge of Tortosa, to observe the Earl of Galway, who was encamp'd with 3 or 4000 Horse at Benifallite behind the Ebro: That Earl has put his Foot into Tortosa, Lerida, and other Places. The Garrison of the Castle of Xativa continue to make an obstinate Defence. The Garrison of Alicante is reinforc'd by the Enemy to 3000 Men, and that of Denia to 1200. On the Frontiers of Portugal our Generals found the Enemy so well on their Guard, that they have not been able to do any thing of Consequence yet. 300 English and Dutch Officers that are arriv'd at Madrid, desir'd some Town in Spain might be the Place of their Confinement; but King Philip refus'd it, and has given Order for sending them to Bayone. We begin here to be under Apprehension of losing Naples, it being well known the Viceroy cannot put any Trust in the Militia of that Kingdom. They write from Dunkirk, that the Chevalier de Forbin put to Sea the Beginning of this Week, with 5 large Men of War, 8 Frigates and 6 Privateers: Orders are sent to Breft and Toulon for speedily fitting out the Ships of War there.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated June 24.

Paris, June 20. They write from Versailles, that the Chevalier d'Hasfelt has forc'd the Castle of Xativa to surrender at Discretion, and that the Duke of Orleans is on the March to besiege Lerida and Tortosa.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 25.

Paris, June 20. Letters from Madrid of the 6th of June import, that the Town of Serpa on the Frontier of Portugal surrendred the 25th of last Month to the Duke d'Osuna at Discretion; that the Garrison consisting of 990 Men were made Prisoners and sent to Seville, that in the Place were found 1300 Fusils, 450 Barrels of Powder, 14 Cannon and 8 Mortars, and that the Duke d'Osuna had put into it a Garrison of 500 Men commanded by Brigadier Vilarde; that the Chevalier d'Hasfelt took the Town of Xativa the 25th inst, but that the Garrison defend themselves resolutely in the Castle; that the Chevalier had left but a few Troops before it, and was march'd with the rest to joyn the Duke of Berwick, who the 27th was near Tortosa on this Side the Ebro; that that Duke would speedily march to Arragon to joyn the Duke of Orleans, who waited for Artillery from Pampelona in order to advance into Catalonia; and that all the chief Places of Arragon had return'd to Obedience, Monson excepted, which is garrison'd with English and Dutch Troops.

Hague, June 24. 'Tis much resented here that the Enemy refuse to give Leave to some of our Officers that were taken Prisoners in the Battle of Almanfa to come hither on their Paroles: The rather because England and these Provinces have been very indulgent to the French Prisoners in that particular; tho' they abus'd that Indulgence, several that had Leave to go to France on their Parole, having never troubled themselves to come agen, nay 'tis known that some of them have actually serv'd among the Enemy's Troops. This occasion'd the making a Resolution some time ago by the States to grant like Leave no more: That Resolution has frequently been dispenc'd with however, out of human Compassion; but 'tis now renew'd, and the Enemy ought to expect it will for the future be kept with Rigour.

A Letter from Paris of the 20th of June, runs thus. The last Letters from Spain, which arriv'd the 18th, advise, that we are to expect no further Progress of our Forces there during the great Heats, which would oblige them forthwith to go into Summer-Quarters. The Duke of Orleans has written a long Letter to the King touching the Condition of the Archduke's Affairs, which according to his Royal Highness's Account is very bad. He says, that without considerable and timely Succours the Archduke cannot pretend to appear agen in the Field; that the last Reinforcement he receiv'd can do but little towards the repairing the Loss he suffer'd by the Battle of Almanfa; and that he hopes to give a good Account of the Places into which the Archduke has put his Troops, being inform'd those Places are unprovided with Ammunition and Provisions. Tho' the Emperor's Troops are so near entering the Kingdom of Naples, our Court discover no manner of Uneasiness about it: They pretend such good Measures are taken for the Defence of that Kingdom that there is nothing to fear, the Places of Strength being garrison'd with French Forces under French Governours of known Fidelity. The Marshal de Villars writes, that he has above 3 Millions in Cash by Contributions rais'd in the Country on the Upper-Rhine, and that he continues to extend those Contributions as far as possible. Our Court are disappointed in their Expectations that some Members of the Germanick Body, would separate from it and accept a Neutrality.
